Restorative Resources Training and Consulting, LLC, provides individual, family, group and community-based psychotherapy; training and education; consultation related to clinical practice, organizational structure and management; and program development, implementation and evaluation, nationally and internationally, to people and organizations who serve survivors of extreme interpersonal trauma.

OUR MISSION

The mission of Restorative Resources Training & Consulting is to build on existing resources (individual and communal) to support systems of healing and well being that promote resiliency and are culturally congruent and respectful. My approach to all work, from individual psychotherapy to organizational development, is a strength-based, systemic approach.
